How A Year Went During Pandemic

1st April 2020 – 31st March 2021

The nation saw an unprecedented pandemic and a country-wide lockdown imposed on 24th March 2020. Its immediate impact was on the livelihood of daily wage earners which gradually increased and impacted almost every sector. The cooperative credit societies have also suffered with enormous difficulties in giving withdrawals and loans to its members. Also, the recovery of loan and mobilization of deposit was widely affected.

Sahulat immediately started advocacy with the policy makers at national level as well as state level to get ease for cooperative credit societies to function during the lockdown. The sectoral organizations such Sa-Dhan and NAFCUB provided all possible help in reaching out the policy making bodies and getting positive result. Maharashtra was the first state to recognize cooperative credit societies as essential services, later the central government and other states declared the cooperative credit societies as essential services.

Secondly Sahulat constituted a committee to minutely review liquidity position of affiliated cooperatives. Based on it's inputs Sahulat provided advisories for managing the essential expenses, controlled withdrawal, mobilization of fresh fund and managing the liquidity. These exercises were extremely effective in controlling initial panic, the cooperatives were able to make a good balance between demand and supply and most importantly they have been able to earn confidence of their members. Eventually the cooperatives resumed their operations to be normal after the lockdown.

During the lockdown Sahulat had organized several online trainings for affiliated cooperatives on monitoring and managing liquidity on the basis of daily cash in and cash out. Another major training program conducted throughout the year was to empower them on the indicators of a healthy balance sheet followed by the methods and strategies to achieve it. These exercises created a significant acceptance level for such training programs among the office bearers and board members (which happens to be a voluntary group) of affiliated cooperatives. Not only acceptance but their enthusiasm and capacity of implementation has improved significantly.

The good story is that Sahulat affiliated cooperatives have also improvised themselves during this period. Some cooperatives were so innovative in using digital payment platforms to fulfil their member's need and some cooperatives have taken a risk to initiate COVID19 Relief Loan in such a challenging time. These cooperatives showed great amount of empathy towards their members while providing withdrawal and while reaching out for recovery. Indeed, it was a challenging time. Sahulat affiliated cooperatives and its members were able to brave this challenge together with their mutuality and cooperation.

Sahulat whole heartedly appreciates all the efforts of the board of advisors at its regional office in Hyderabad, the efforts of Microfinance Committee chaired by Mr. Sheikh Ashraf in Maharashtra, MD of Sanghamam Kerala, MD of AlKhair Patna and all the Office Bearers, Directors, Chief Functionaries, back office staff and Field Staff of affiliated cooperatives for their selfless services.
